in their aurrow cells are left month after tutte of Streeten dent to bestew one

Such is a question propounded by our atemporary, the Guardian, the other contemporary, the Guardian, the other day, and which we think a very proper sum. We used to complain of the glorious functivity which characterized the movements of government officials under the old regime, and were wont to attribute the cause to Downing Street red-tapism and that system of circumlocution in action as well as in words which appears to have been adopted with a view to keeping the machinery of government in motion without producing any marked results; but now that we have got responsible government, with Messrs. Mo-Creight & Co. at the helm of affairs, who are supposed to represent public.

Government had a friend situated as those poor lunatics are, three months would not have been allowed to roll by in careless indifference to their fate, while they have feasting and fishing; but because they are poor and friendless, they are left to rot and die, and then the order is given, "roll their bones over the stones, they are only paupers whom no-body owns," and that is the end of them The subject is a painful one, and well may the Guardian ask, "What are the Ministres doing?"

New Advertisements.

R. A FFT. El are supposed to represent public on and to be responsible to the peo e for the way in which they manage he business of the country, matters are worse state than they ever were. Not only are there a larger number of hired servants enjoying a lazy and laxurious existence at the public expense than there ever was before, but to all outward appearance there is very much less actual work being done. Even in the public offices, we are told, the subordinates are really getting reaty for want of something to do, and are becoming tired of the ceaseless round of luactivity to which they are subjected during office hours. It must be very trying indeed to so many young and vigorous gentlemen as are berrowed in the various offices at James' Bay, to be housed up during these Not only are there a larger num-Bay, to be housed up during these beautiful summer days with nothing to do, when they might just as well take an occasional day or two off to go fishing or shooting, particularly as their absence would not in the slightest degree, the way things are managed, interfere with the efficient (f) conduct of public affairs. The masters find it necessary to get out of the way of office duties, and to go off on a political angling expedition to New Westminster, and why should the men not have a similar relaxation from office not have a similar relaxation from omce attendance, that they might have an opportunity to shake off the feeling of cannot which has been produced by a lack of active employment? But it is not with the subordinates we desire to deal. We would echo the question of our contemporary, "What are the Ministers doing?" The same apathy and disregard for the public interests which have characterized their movements in reference to the construction of the Semiahmoo trail as marked their course in almost exery other matter. With the exception of putting one or two country roads in repair and spending several thousand dollars in repairs upon Government House, we believe little or nothing has been done, at least in this section of the Province. It is nearly three months since appropriations were made for the construction of new bridges on the Esquimalt road, to replace those at present in use, which have become so worm-eaten and frail that it is almost as to drive a hand-cart over them. but nothing, we believe, has yet been done toward having those very desirable works executed. Then certain arrangeworks executed. Then certain arrangements were to have been made by which the patients in the Royal Hospital were to have been transferred from their present location to the building known as the Ladies' Infirmary, and the present Hospital building fitted up for the use of the poor lunatics now penned up in dark, narrow, poorly ventilated dungeons in the gaol premises; but if we may judge by the way matters have progressed during the past three months, we should say there is little hope indeed of anything being done either for the sick or the crazed during this present year of grace. being done either for the sick or the crazed during this present year of grace. As for the surveys for the graving dock and the water supply for the city, those jobs having been given to a first-class Civil Engineer, whose services the Government have been so fortunate as to secure ment have been so fortunate as to secure at the very moderate salary of £300 per annum, we shall likely hear nothing whatever about them until some time next year, and in the meantime a portion of the seven thousand dellars voted to this city with a view to taking preliminary steps toward obtaining a water supply for the use of the citizens, will be swallowed up in payment of Mr. Bulkley's salary as Provincial Engineer. We presume the excuse for delay in the construction of the new bridges on the Esquimalt road will be the unavoidable absence of the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works, who is on a political Lands and Works, who is on a poli Lands and Works, who is on a political mission to the upper country; also, the absence of the Surveyor General, who, we believe, is likewise on a tour to the apper country, in which business and pleasure are about equally combined; and acting can be done until those distinguishing can be done until those distinguishing can be done until those distinguished. guished personages return to the city.

As Mr. Bulkley is a first-class Civil Engineer, why should he not be instructed to do the work? or if he is so busy about making a second survey for the dry dock. and preparing a new set of plans and specifications for that work, that he has no time to attend to anything else, why could Mr. Homfray not be utilized for Livery could Mr. Homfray not be utilized for the purpose, if it be true that he is doing Mr. Bulkley's work on the survey for a route to bring water from Bik Lake to Victoria? Scarcely had the Governor's signature been placed to the Bill of Supply until workmen were busily engaged tearing down and building up and making alterations at Government House for the comfort and coavenience of the Governor and his family, to all which we ernor and his family, to all which we have no objection to offer, but feel disposed rather to commend, as being the only single instance in which the Ministry have been guilty of being in a hurry about anything they ever took in hand. What a contrast does it present to the culpable indifference shown regarding the indifference shown regarding the poor lunatics buried alive in the cells of Victoris and New Westminster gaols!
"Comparisons," we are told, "are odious," and so they sometimes are. The Governor was desirous to occupy Cary Castle, and heaven and earth must be laid under to prompt a solitary effort to reserved them from their living tombe to the enjoyment of a pure atmosphere and the health giving rays of the king of day. Had any gentleman belonging to the Government had a friend situated as

WHO WAS IN VICTORIA, V. I., IN 1861, died suddeuly from small-pox a short time ago. He had a most delightful and salubrious residence, with lawn, garden, hothouses, &c., yet the fatal epidemic entered it. Anthony Jobson, who was in Victoria in 1861, subsequently in Cariboo and Kootenay—in the latter district as a butcher—has settled in Baled and control of the Forest Rose Co., has gone to Wales with a friend to look at some lead mines. Hardy Gillard, formerly well known in Victoria, was in Newcastle a fortnight ago with his "Great American Panorama," with which he is travelling throughout the Kingdom. The newspapers speak of Hardy's explanatory lecture as a very interesting and able effort. Adios.
